

Is Seattle's role changing in our region?

with King County Councilmember Cynthia Sullivan

Wednesday, Oct. 30

6:30 pm Meet the Tax Advisor
Learn about Transit Projects
Community Public Health
7-9 pm Town Meeting

Bryant Elementary School Auditorium

3311 NE 60th Street
Seattle

For more information, contact
Councilmember Sullivan at
(206) 296-1002, or
cynthia.sullivan@metrokc.gov.

Refreshments Provided

Co-sponsored by the Northeast District Council

As a resident of Northeast Seattle like you, I am very concerned about the standing of Seattle in our growing region. It's time to ask tough questions about how we can keep Seattle intact as the economic engine of King County, even as the role of county government changes. There is no better time to tackle these issues as current deliberations over the 2003 King County budget begin. Your questions and comments are valuable in these times of change.

As chair of the King County Council, I have responsibility for critical policy decisions that can improve transportation and re-engineer our criminal justice system. Recent decisions have challenged Seattle's lead role in the region. The recent percentage reduction in the amount of new bus service for Seattle was just one of the votes that showed the rising influence of the suburban cities.

Please join me, my former colleague and now Seattle Mayor Greg Nickels and County Councilmember Larry Gossett in a town meeting to examine these important issues.

Cynthia Sullivan
Councilmember, District Two

King County Courthouse, Room 1200
516 Third Avenue
Seattle, WA 98104-3272

cynthia.sullivan@metrokc.gov
(206) 296-1002

Town Meeting

Plan to widen 520 bridge

Suburbs win edge in plan

Bus service duel pits
Seattle against suburbs

PRSR STD
US Postage
PAID

Seattle, WA
Permit No. 1788

King County